One Hundred Days Countdown to Bangabandhu's 100th Anniversary

Dhaka, 24th October, 2019

Father of the Nation, Sheikh Mujibur Rahman's 100th anniversary and the Mujib Year is due to be celebrated on 17th March, 2020. The nation is eagerly awaiting the moment when they would be able to pay a grand tribute to the architect of independent Bangladesh. A countdown of the nationwide celebration is set to begin 100 days prior to 17th March. Dr. Kamal Abdul Naser Chowdhury, the Chief Coordinator of the National Implementation Committee said this during a meeting of the committee regarding the 100th anniversary celebration at the International Mother Language Institute.

17th March will be observed as the National Children's Day. Like previous years, all day long painting competitions along with other joyous activities for children will be organized, but this time the 100th anniversary celebration will also be part of the events. This is why, a countdown of the 100 days will begin throughout the country alongside the capital.

The inauguration ceremony of Mujib Year and the 100th anniversary celebration at the Suhrawardy Udyan on 17th March will be broadcast live all over the country. Photographs, documentaries and paintings representing the iconic moments of Bangladesh's history will be exhibited in several parts of the country. The nation will be glowing with luminous lighting decorations and fireworks signifying the glory Bangabandhu's contributions.

To make the events of this very day successful, guidance was provided to the senior officials of both city corporations in Dhaka along with the other city corporations in the presence of Fayeze Ahmed, Secretary at the Ministry of Public Administration and Helaluddin Ahmed, Secretary at the Local Government Division. Senior officials from the National Implementation Committee were also present at the meeting.
